

Guide to Naturalization Records at the Alaska State Archives

Introduction: This document seeks to provide guidance to researchers seeking information about naturalizations that occurred in Alaska before 1959. The Alaska State Archives holds the bulk of the naturalization records for Alaska pre-1959, most all of which have been indexed by name. Some naturalization records for Alaska are held by National Archives, Seattle.

Administrative History: District Courts of Alaska were a designated authority for the naturalization process. The courts evolved from one district court in Sitka, first established 1884, and were organized into four divisions in 1909, which have served Alaska since. Different courts maintained different naturalization records as well as procedures before 1906 that is reflected in documents transferred to the State Archives. The clerk of the court generally recorded naturalizations.

Collection Description: An index has been created that captures the names of individuals who sought naturalization in Alaska pre-1959. Naturalization files for these individuals were created in the courts of Juneau, Petersburg, Ketchikan, Wrangell, Skagway, Cordova, and Nome. These naturalization files include Declarations of Intention, Petitions for Naturalization (approved and denied), Fact Sheets for Declarations and Petitions, Depositions in Support of Petitions, Certificates of Naturalization, lists of applicants for admission to citizenship and Native Alaskans citizenship case files. Some files contain correspondence with the clerk of court, notification of court procedures with regard to the application for citizenship or a request to withdraw the application. Some files include photos of applicants. The index represents the vast bulk of holdings by the State Archives.¹

Arrangement: The index is arranged alphabetically by name – last, first, AKA (also known as) and includes country of origin, date of application, applicant’s residence and occupation, judicial precinct, record type, case number, and the identifying archives box/volume number.

Related material: Microfilmed Index of Naturalizations for Skagway 1901-1917 and Juneau 1900-1929 is available at the State Archives upon request.
